Ladner retains seat by affidavit votes

BY TRACI BONNEY

Of six affidavit ballots in the District 5 supervisor's race, five went to incumbent Michael "Mike" Ladner while one went to challenger Barney R. Necaise, leaving the final vote at 777 for Ladner and 771 for Necaise.

At the Democratic Executive Committee's meeting Thursday to certify the vote, Necaise made a written request that the ballots for the eight precincts in District 5 be recounted. The committee agreed to his request, and added the affidavits into the recount.

The recount, with the affidavits included, changed the total from 771-770 in favor of Ladner to 777-771.

Necaise thanked his supporters, congratulated Ladner and said he will fully support him in the November 5 general election. "I really enjoyed campaigning for District 5 supervisor. It's always been a goal of mine to get involved in politics or government in some way."

"It's been a pleasure communicating with and meeting the people of Hancock County and especially District 5, where I feel I've made a lot of friendships that I hope to retain."

Ladner thanked all those who gave him their support and help, and said he was pleased with the way Necaise ran his campaign. "I appreciate the vote of confidence from the people of District 5, and the outstanding manner in which Barney Necaise ran his campaign."

Ladner, 58, of Bay St. Louis, is a retired member of the Air Force. He is completing his first term in office and faces Republican Johnny Gryner November 5.

County school board gives approval to day care center

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock County School Board gave the go-ahead to Hancock County Vo-Tech Center director Alvin Bourgeois Wednesday for establishment of a Child Development Center at the school.

The center will be housed at the Vo-Tech facility and will serve employees of the school district. High school students (at present 33 have enrolled) will care for infants and pre-school age children under the supervision of one state certified instructor and one assistant teacher.

Cost to the employee will be $140 per month per child. The program is not licensed to accept children other than from employees of the district who work normal school hours (7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.).

Bourgeois said the program should be ready to begin within the next month.

The board approved a request by William Carey College for the use of a classroom at night for the purpose of teaching two master's degree level classes. The classes will be offered for credit within the college's degree program.

A $168,141 shortfall loan was approved by the board from the Peoples Bank which was the lowest bidder at 7.06 percent interest. School district superintendent Terrell Randolph said the loan was necessary to compensate for a shortage in anticipated revenues and was to be applied to the maintenance fund.

In other business the board approved: —to employ Janet Byrd, Natalie Cuevas, Eme H. Perkins, and Cathleen Rush as substitute high school teachers; Janet Bryd as a secondary teacher; Ken Harder as a related studies teacher for the vo-tech center; Cheryl M. Moore, James Winston, Cathy Ladner and Helen C. Shiyou as substitute teachers for Hancock North Central Elementary School; Cathy Boyet as Chapter I

Blazing a trail

Board of supervisors to consider Buccaneer Park nature-oriented project

BY TRACI BONNEY

The county board of supervisors is considering a proposal that would build a pier and blaze a wetlands nature trail at Buccaneer State Park.

Jeff Taylor of the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District updated the board Monday about an application to the Bureau of Marine Resources for Coastal Zone Management 306(A) grant funds. SMPDD prepared the application for the county, the city of Waveland and the Mississippi Bureau of State Parks to submit in a joint effort to obtain $50,000 from BMR for the project.

The project calls for improving the beach south of and adjacent to Buccaneer Park, and developing a Wetlands

Interpretive Trail inside the western area of the park. Under the proposal, improving the beach consists of constructing an observation pier, related parking and recreational improvements on the rock jetty now in existence south of the park entrance.

Total projected revenues for the endeavor are $129,500, Taylor said. He stated that the bulk of those revenues are in pledged-in-kind labor from the county, Waveland and the park.

Taylor said SMPDD will need board authorization to submit the application, some assistance from board attorney Gerald Gex in conducting title work, some minor engineering work and approval to sign the appropriate documents.

District 1 Supervisor Robert

Peterson said he didn't think there would be any problems with the board's cooperating on the project, but District 2 Supervisor Ronald Cuevas reminded Peterson that there is a question as to whether the state or the county owns the beach area in question because the sand to form the beach was pumped onto state tidelands.

"Until that's settled, I can't see how we can do anything," Cuevas stated.

After some further discussion, the board voted 4-0 (District 4 Supervisor Wilmer Seymour is currently in Germany with the National Guard) to take the matter under advisement.

The board also heard reports

Weathering the storm

—Civil Defense offers hurricane preparedness tips

BY TRACI BONNEY

Don't mothball your hurricane contingency kit just yet.

Although it's near the end of hurricane season, don't count on nature to abide by man's generalized expectations of weather patterns.

Civil Defense director Bobby Boudin said because there haven't been any bad storms in recent years, people may become complacent.

"When you don't have something pretty frequently, folks tend to relax," he commented. "I had a lady call me who wanted to take her house off the pilings and put it on the ground. I had to tell her she couldn't because she lives in a flood plain, and the county could lose its flood insurance if people start doing that kind of thing and we get a good rain in here."

Most people think the possibility of a hurricane ends when the storm season does. Not so, according to Boudin.

He recalled that about 12 years ago, an off-season storm unexpectedly struck this area.

He said his first indication of trouble was the morning the storm hit. While preparing breakfast, he was informed by his daughter that the wind was blowing hard outside. Soon after, he received a call from Terry's Seafood that there were four feet of water over the seawall at Bayou Cadet and the fishermen couldn't get to their boats to secure them.

When Boudin contacted the Weather Service office in Mobile, they told him they'd had no indication of a storm until it suddenly developed, and there was no time to send out a warning before it hit.

That storm, a full-fledged hurricane with winds in excess of 75 miles an hour, struck in January of that year, Boudin said.

"People need to be prepared at all times."

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

There is a large number of readers trying to win the football poll in the newspaper each week.

Two weeks ago, there were eight folks who had picked the ten winners, and we had to go to the tiebreaker to decide the winner.

It was interesting as the lady from Hattiesburg, who won the $75 savings bond, had the correct number of points the tiebreaking teams scored.

There are weeks I think when I could flip a coin and do better on my selections, but I seem to be improving as the season moves along.

I am glad to see the number of fans who are attending high school football games this season and supporting their favorite teams.

John Rutherford, Hancock County Blood Bank chairman, reports the drawing Wednesday was very good with 101 volunteers offering to donate one unit.

The blood drawn will be put to good use, and I am glad they were able to make their quota.

John wants to extend a big appreciation to everyone who participated in helping make the Red Cross drawing a success.

The volunteer donors, those who urged employees to donate blood, the doctors, nurses and volunteers who helped check in folks, etc., all should be commended. Thanks to everyone.

I wonder how some qualified electors who did not vote in District Five on Tuesday felt when they saw the returns with 771 votes for one candidate and 770 for the other.

Every vote does count, and I am hoping that in future elections all qualified electors will get out and vote.

Enough qualified electors stay away from the polls in some elections that another candidate could receive 51% of the vote.

Our Constitution gives us the right to vote for the candidates of our choice, and we should make every effort to vote in every election.

I am hoping there will be a big increase in the number of persons voting in the November general election compared with the recent primaries.

First national Progress Report on Education due

In the next few weeks you'll be reading and hearing a lot about education.

The reason for this focus, on a national level, is due to the release of the first Annual Progress Report on Education from the National Education Goals Panel.

Mississippi itself has many reasons to be proud of our role in the area of education. Our commitment toward educational excellence demonstrates that we are not only on track, but, in quite a few cases, ahead of the pack when it comes to reaching both Mississippi and national education goals.

We have long been dedicated to improving education. Enactment of the historic Education Reform Act of 1982 before the release of A Nation At Risk made Mississippi the first state in America to pass comprehensive education reform.

Two years ago, our citizens recognized the need to set state goals which would guide us in our continuing pursuit of educational excellence.

Months of intensive work with people throughout the State produced a set of goals. Input from educators, citizens, business leaders, parents, community leaders and state officials led to a new wave of education goals and a plan for reaching them—Mississippi's BEST (Better Education for Success Tomorrow).

Mississippi's BEST goals state that, by the year 2001:

—Mississippians will be served by schools, colleges and universities in which the performance of students is regularly assessed and is improving.

—All of Mississippi's children will be fully prepared for kindergarten. —Student achievement for elementary and secondary students must be competitive with students in other developed countries.

—The school dropout rate will be reduced by one-half.

—Nine out of 10 of Mississippi's adults will be functionally literate.

—The rate of teenage parenthood will be reduced by one-half.

—Higher Education will be internationally competitive in selected areas, and will be more accountable for improved learning in all areas.

At present, some of the programs in BEST are being implemented while others remain to be funded. I am dedicated to ensuring that the BEST program be fully implemented for the benefit of our children.

In the next few weeks, I will detail just how education is at the heart of many programs run by state agencies in Mississippi—not just the Institutions of Higher Learning, the Community and Junior Colleges, and the State Department of Education.

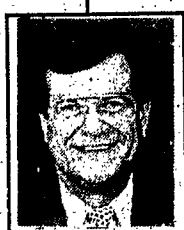

Education also is an integral part of the departments of Health, Human Services, Public Safety and Mental Health. In addition, the private sector is working hard to improve education, and I will include its efforts in future writings.

So, as they say, stay tuned. In the following weeks, we'll discuss the progress that we have made to date in the area of education excellence and how we are opening the door of the future for our children and our children's children.

Mississippi doing well

An American economist from the 1700's said the three functions of government are judiciary, defense and infrastructure. And if infrastructure means winning federal grants and contracts, then we are doing well for Mississippi.

In fiscal year 1990, the state of Mississippi was awarded $9,475,040,005 in federal grants from 24 federal agencies, and Mississippi companies won 1,995 federal contracts totaling $1,184,148,000. That means Mississippi received almost $10.7 billion during 1990.

The money came from such federal agencies as Agriculture, Commerce, Transportation, Education, Defense, Veterans Administration, Railroad Retirement, national Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Corps of Engineers to name just a few.

But what does all this mean for Mississippi?

Well, being awarded federal money means new schools, modern water and sewer systems, contracts to stimulate the state's business economy, environmental conservation, new housing, modern hospitals and the list goes on and on.

Whenever you see an interstate highway like I-55 or I-20 being paved, that is use of federal money. When food-victimized farmers in the Mississippi Delta win Farmers Home Administration loans, that is use of federal money. And when a ship such as the USS Vicksburg cruises out of a Mississippi shipyard, that is use of federal money.

Contracts are won by companies to perform jobs for the government. The government collects bids from companies nationwide and interested Mississippi companies submit offers. As the $1.18 billion figure suggests, our companies are winning many big jobs and are becoming more and more aggressive on a national level.

Grants are applied for by cities, schools, agencies, individuals and any group which qualifies for federal funds. The government summarizes the needs of the applicant and decides if the grant should be awarded. Mississippi is winning money and rightly so. We have a tremendous need for new and better facilities to meet our state's economic growth.

We have much to be proud of in Mississippi, but much needs to be done. I will continue fighting to make sure that we receive the assistance available to help Mississippi prosper.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

A tribute to former Governor James P. Coleman

Raw-boned and toothy, he was called the "Choctaw County plowboy." He came out of these red clay hills in 1955 and, in an upset, plowed his way through a thicket of political heavyweights to win the Mississippi governor's office.

It was apparent from the moment that James P. Coleman grabbed the gold ring in state politics, the state's entrenched political establishment faced a dynamic new adversary. Further, Coleman was suspect because he had eschewed race-baiting, long the staple of political success.

A hill country populist, Coleman symbolized the underlying clash in Mississippi politics between the "Rednecks" and the "Delta plantation conservatives—the 'bourbons' of the post-Reconstruction era."

He was a Redneck, but also a brilliant, persuasive advocate, with a powerful, confident presence which could dominate any gathering as long as he could meet his opposition face to face. He was the first governor in years who set out to crack the barrier of the Legislature's rugged intransigence to leadership from the state's chief executive.

However, Coleman made what later proved to be a strategic error. For the sake of harmony, he made a deal with House Speaker Walter Sillers, the paragon of the Delta old guard, not to back a bright young House member, Rep. William Winter of Grenada, against Sillers for speaker in 1956. Without Coleman's backing Winter, who had stumped for Coleman in two Democratic primaries in 1955, lost.

When Coleman made his monumental move in 1957 to get a constitutional convention and replace what Coleman labeled Mississippi's "horse and buggy" constitution of 1890, the shrewd, crafty Sillers proved to be his undoing, orchestrating opposition to the convention.

Coleman lashed out at foes of the convention as "wild-eyed saboteurs" and charged that the "Delta barons" in the House were seeking to thwart the writing of a progressive new state constitution. When the historic fight was over, Coleman was beaten in the House and Sillers' iron-fisted control in the Legislature was restored.

If Coleman had been able to put through his plans for a new constitution, in which he contemplated such reforms as legislative reapportionment, (something that would not come until years later), reorganization of county government, property tax equalization, and strengthening the powers of the governor, he could have greatly altered the political history of the state.

Latter day critics may carp about the fact that the notorious State Sovereignty Commission was created by the Legislature during Coleman's four-year tenure as governor and he signed it into law. What they don't understand is the context of the times. The white Citizens Councils had grown so strong that many lawmakers were at their beck and call.

The Councils, who had opposed Coleman's election, kept up a constant drum beat demanding that Coleman speak out and take strong measures in support of segregation, something which Coleman declined to do. Coleman opted to approve the Sovereignty Commission as a buffer against the extremism advocated by the Councils and since he would make the appointments to the commission, he could see that the CC didn't control it.

As long as Coleman was governor, moderates ran the commission. But when Ross Barnett came along and took it over, the CC was in the saddle.

Although the times were tense, Coleman was determined to keep down racial violence. And he succeeded—until his last year in office—1959—when Mack Charles Parker, a 23-year-old black ex-soldier charged with rape, was lynched at Poplarville, shattering Coleman's hopes.

Without hesitation, Coleman invited the FBI to come into the case and use its full resources to ferret out the lynchers. For that, Coleman was bitterly condemned by the Citizens Councils. Posters appeared in the Poplarville area calling Coleman a "traitor."

When the FBI cracked the case and gave Coleman its report, Coleman dutifully turned it over to the local district attorney for prosecution, but the DA never presented it to the grand jury.

Because of Coleman's great sense of history, he undertook the project as governor to restore Mississippi's Old Capitol, which had been abandoned and allowed for decades to fall into disrepair. Remarkably, the old building, where the state seceded from the Union, was restored under Coleman for less than $2 million and made into the state's finest museum.

Fittingly, when death came for J. P. Coleman at age 77, his body lay in state at the Old Capitol. And then the Choctaw County plowboy, under soil from the Fentress cotton farm, he loved so much, was laid to final rest.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Don't get mad, join a PAC

One of the chief accusations leveled against candidates for public office is that by accepting money from Political Action Committees, these candidates have "sold out to special interest groups."

But, what exactly are Political Action Committees and how do they operate?

Political Action Committees or PACs are simply groups of people who pool their resources in order to contribute to candidates who share their particular political, social, religious, philosophical, or economic point of view.

Associations, unions, ideological groups, and corporations use money gathered from their members or stockholders to support or defeat candidates. Successful targeting and support of candidates and campaigns allow these groups to help put "friends" in positions of power in government. Often, these office holders reciprocate by allowing PAC members access. Many incumbents listen closely to PAC concerns about existing or proposed legislation.

Although PACs have been around in one form or another practically since the Boston Tea Party, they did not become a truly powerful force in government until after the Watergate hearings in the 1970s. As a result of that scandal, severe limitations were placed on the amount that an individual or party can contribute to a candidate for federal or state office.

Although controversial, PACs are actually very well regulated on both the federal level, by the Federal Election Commission, and on the state level by the office of the Secretary of State.

There are strict reporting requirements and guidelines on who may give to a PAC, how money for PACs may be solicited, and the amount given by members to PACs and by PACs to candidates. All reports are kept on file and are available for public inspection.

Hurricane

Preparation includes developing a family plan, stockpiling food and supplies, getting ready for the storm when you know one is about to hit and being ready to evacuate if need be.

A family plan includes assigning tasks to family members; assigning meeting places if the family is not together at the time they find out about the hurricane; and selecting someone from outside your immediate area to act as a contact person for family and friends who may try to reach you after a hurricane.

Stockpiling is essential in case you are stranded in your home for several days. According to the Civil Defense, you need to have on hand at least a five-day supply of food and water for each family member. Store water in sealed, unbreakable containers.

Foods should be non-perishable, such as canned or sealed-package items. Rotate foods into your regular pantry supplies and replace stored water every few months.

Other items to stockpile include special medicines or foods required by family members; a battery-powered radio and flashlight in working order; and extra batteries for each; a first-aid kit and manual; fire-fighting equipment to suppress small fires, including an all-purpose, five-pound fire extinguisher; a fuel-heating device, and copy of the instructions for use; and a power generator.

To keep abreast of the latest developments in the event of a hurricane, stay tuned to a local radio or TV station.

In preparing for a hurricane, check your batteries and the equipment they will power. Make sure your car is fueled should you need to evacuate or in case gas stations are inoperable after the storm.

Board up windows or protect them with storm shutters or tape. Tape may not prevent a window from breaking, but it can help keep glass from flying.

Secure outdoor objects such as garbage cans, garden tools, patio furniture, toys, barbecue grills, signs and other small items. Secure your boat before the storm arrives, or move it to a designated safe area.

In case you need to evacuate, keep a list of family members' prescribed medications, including generic names and prescribed dosages. Also list the name and of the family doctor. For those who rely on medical equipment such as a pacemaker, the style, serial number and other pertinent information should be kept with you at all times.

Keep vital family records and other irreplaceable items in one central location where they can be moved easily if you must leave the area. Keep papers in a water-and-fireproof container.

If you are told to evacuate, listen to radio or TV broadcasts for emergency instructions and information; and shut off water, gas and electricity before you leave your house, if told to do so.

When you evacuate, leave early from low-lying or beach areas. Areas that may be swept by high tides, storm waves or flood waters are especially vulnerable, as are mobile homes.

Leaving as quickly as possible will also help you avoid overcrowded roadways.

Know your evacuation route and final destination. If you are going to a friend or relative's house, let them know you are on the way so they will have an estimated arrival time. This will give them a chance to prepare, as well as information to relay to authorities if you don't arrive when expected.

If you plan to go to a shelter, go to the closest designated one in your area. Take with you only clothes, non-perishable food, medicine, flashlights and extra batteries, battery-powered radio, drinking water, baby items (including food, diapers, sheets and pillows). As no pets are allowed, you should make arrangements for their safety. Follow instructions of shelter personnel and volunteer to help with any task needed. Remain at the shelter until informed that you may leave. People will not be allowed back in evacuated areas until advised by official public announcement.

If you live inland away from the beaches and low-lying areas, your home is well-constructed and local authorities have not evacuated your area, you may want to stay home and follow emergency preparations.

If you do stay home, stay indoors during the hurricane. Flying objects and debris can be dangerous and even lethal.

Don't let the "eye" of the hurricane, the calm center of the storm, lull you into thinking the storm is over. It isn't. After the eye passes (anywhere from a few minutes to half an hour or more), the storm winds pick back up to hurricane force and come from the opposite direction.

Be alert for tornado watches or warnings, since hurricanes do spawn tornados. Should your area receive a hurricane warning, find inside shelter immediately.

The Civil Defense office is preparing a newsletter with complete disaster preparedness information. Boudin said copies of it will be available in businesses and other places throughout the county.

ON PATROL

From Echo Staff Reports

WOODS ARSON

Hancock County Fire Marshall Jay Marsh reported the arrest of Scott Lebeau, 41, the evening of October 6 for woods arson along I-10, west of Hwy. 603.

Marsh stated that a phone call was made by a passing truck driver who saw a man walking from the woods towards the interstate highway, and at that same time saw flames coming from within the woods.

Mississippi Highway Patrolman Roy Fullerton assisted Marsh in questioning Lebeau at the 13th mile marker. Lebeau said he had no address and did not know his social security number. When asked, he admitted to intending to spend the night in the woods and setting fire "to keep warm," said Marsh.

Lebeau is presently in the Hancock County Justice Facility. No bond has been set.

Mississippi Forestry Commission County Forester Mark Jamieson stated, "Because the fire was reported promptly, we were able to contain it before it did too much damage." He said two-tenths of an acre was burned.

The Forestry Commission was assisted by Diamondhead Fire Department in extinguishing the fire.

A flag went down and the TD was canceled.

The ball was handed over to the Blue Devils on their own 10-yard line.

Three plays later and 4:07 remaining in the third quarter the Blue Devils had been pushed back to their own 46. Again the Blue Devils came back.

Penalties kept a TD score by Pearl River Central from counting and yardage was constantly pushing the Blue Devils further from the goal.

Finally the Blue Devils could move the ball no closer as they failed on a fourth down attempt and the ball was handed over with 16 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

The third quarter ended 28-6, Pearl River Central ahead.

The Hawks pick up at two and 14 on the Blue Devils' 28-yard line.

Favre went back to throw and the Blue Devils intercepted. A flag went down and the ball was given back to the Hawks. Two plays later on the fourth down attempt, the Hawks failed to make the first down and the ball was turned over to the Blue Devils at the Hawk 40 with 9:49 left in the game.

A flag was thrown and the Blue Devils lost five yards for game delay.

The Blue Devils went back to pass and Hawk defensive back Julius Jackson attempting an interception, tipped the ball into the hands of a Blue Devil receiver who took it in for a TD.

The extra point was good for PRC and the score moved to 35-6, Blue Devils.

The ball was kicked off to Hancock and a flag was immediately thrown citing PRC as off sides. Hancock declined the penalty.

Favre made a pass attempt to Devilbiss with no success.

On the next play Favre was sacked on his own 28.

With 8:28 remaining, the Hawks moved the ball to just inside of the 30-yard line. Again Favre was sacked. This time on the Hawk 13-yard line.

The Hawks kicked on the fourth down attempt and the Blue Devils had the ball on their own 23.

Seven minutes and 17 seconds remained. The Blue Devils first attempt is stopped by Doyle. A PRC hand off brought in a three-yard gain.

On the next play, a Blue Devil receiver was handed the ball and carried it all the way in for another TD. The PAT was good and the score pushed Pearl River Central further ahead at 42-6.

Rocks skin Bearcats 35-7

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

It was a sweet homecoming victory for the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws, as they defeated the Long Beach Bearcats 35-7 in high school football action Friday.

Alumni and friends of St. Stanislaus, from across the South, were on hand for the victory as the stands overflowed with Rock supporters.

Scoring for Stanislaus were: Mickey Quinlan on two passes from quarterback Bill Dreher, Trent Terrell on a pass from Dreher, Mike Lee on a run and Tate Thriffley on a plunge.

Kicker Allen Schafer was perfect for the night with five PATs.

A heads-up Rock defense gave the St. Stanislaus offense ball control, as they capitalized with exciting gains on runs and pass completions.

As the final second ticked off the clock, head coach Ken Lyons said, "I thought we played pretty good and executed well, especially in the second half. All of our skilled players did well."

"Our offensive line played well, giving our quarterback (Dreher) the time he needed to throw the ball," Lyons added.

Lyons was a little disappointed by the number of penalties. Several were offensive holdings accessed against the Rocks, and Lyons indicated his team would be working on that during this coming week's practice, adding, "Winning 35-7, I can't complain too much."

For the first time this season, SSC received the kickoff to get the game going.

Playing ball control, the Rocks moved the ball up and down the field, not scoring until 3:43 was left in the first quarter.

The score came on a crushing one-foot plunge by fullback Thriffley.

The 78-yard drive included five Rock first downs, (40 yards of SSC and 20-yards of Long Beach penalties) as the touchdown was set up on a 20-yard pass from Dreher to Terrell.

The Bearcats came storming back, threatening to score and missed a field goal.

Stanislaus moved from their own 20 on an eight-play march for Quinlan's first pass catch touchdown for a 41-yard score with 6:39 left in the first half, giving the Rocks a 14-0 edge.

Later in the quarter, Long Beach got a break on an interception of a Stanislaus pass, and took over the ball on the Rocks' 45.

A halfback pass completion was good for a first down and two quarterback keepers moved the ball to the Stanislaus 13.

Long Beach's quarterback eluded several Rock defenders to toss a scoring pass with 39 seconds left in the first half, giving Stanislaus a 14-7 edge.

Halftime included the introduction of the St. Stanislaus homecoming court, queen Amy Lee and maids Lauryn Landry, Jennifer Richard, Krista Albright and Day Star Hays.

Second half action saw the Rocks taking over at mid-field and marching down the field, capped by a Dreher to Quinlan 12-yard pass with 6:09 left in the quarter.

Stanislaus' defense stopped Long Beach once again and a Rock drive began on their own 29.

A Dreher shovel pass to Lee got things started, in addition to some nice runs by Thriffley behind some good blocking.

The drive ended with an 11-yard pass to Terrell for a score with 8:55 left in the game.

The final Rock score came as a Lee galloped through the middle of Long Beach's defense for a score with 5:04 left in the game.

Schafer added his fifth extra point of the game to be perfect for the night.

In controlling Long Beach, the SSC defense was highlighted by individual stops, gang tackling and good pass defense.

Dreher kept the Long Beach defense guessing throughout the night, mixing his plays.

Stanislaus is now 5-1 for the season and 2-1 in Division 8, Class 4-A.

Next week Stanislaus will visit d'Iberville's Warriors, who are 4-2 for the season and 1-1 in Division 8 Class 4-A, so it will be a must game for both squads.

I would like to thank you, the people, for your overwhelming vote and support and for your continued help and support, so that I may do a good job.

I also thank my opponent and supporters for a clean, well-run race and ask for your support and help during my term in office.

Thanks again.

THANK YOU HANCOCK COUNTY VOTERS.

I am very grateful and appreciative for the overwhelming support shown to me on September 17, October 8, and throughout the entire campaign. I would like to thank all the voters for the kind and warm reception that was given to me as I visited throughout the county. A very special thanks to my family, friends, and supporters who dedicated so much time and effort. Once again, thank you.

Tigers kick Dogs 18-8

BY RANDY PONDER

A rousing goal line stand and a long fourth quarter drive were major turning points in a convincing 18-8 Tiger victory over the Bulldogs Friday night in Vancleave.

Bay High jumped on the scoreboard first when Lyman Curry picked off a Bulldog pass and raced 44 yards for a touchdown midway through the first period. The point after touchdown was no good, but the Tigers were ahead to stay 6-0.

Following an exchange of punts, the ever-present Curry recovered a Vancleave fumble on the Tiger 26. Bay High returned the favor several plays later, setting the stage for defensive heroics as the Bulldogs appeared poised to score.

Vancleave connected on a long pass to the Tiger 19. The Bulldogs reached the nine on a quarterback keeper to set up first and goal.

Bay High called time out to think things over. When play resumed, Vancleave ran the ball to the three. Then, on a great individual effort, Dwayne Antoine broke through the offensive line and sacked the Bulldog quarterback for a six-yard loss.

A third down pass fell incomplete in the end zone. Bay High took another time out. On fourth and goal, the Bulldogs came back with the same pass play. Same result—incomplete pass in the end zone.

The Tigers had held! Instead of maybe giving up the lead, Bay High had gained momentum that would carry through the contest.

After halftime ceremonies, Brenan Compretta pulled in a short kick off to start the second half. With the ball spotted on their 42, the Tigers had great field position. And like any good team, they quickly capitalized.

Using a multi-back attack, Bay High ran the ball straight down the field. Jason Loiacano took a handoff for five yards. Adrian Whavers followed with a four-yard run. L.C. Curry picked up the first down, with a carry to the Vancleave 47.

Loiacano then bulled his way for seven more yards on a good run; Whavers took his turn and gained two. Loiacano then broke through the middle of the line for 10 yards to the Bulldog 28.

A pitchback to Whavers netted another first down at the Vancleave 11. Trellis Haynes grabbed a handoff and reached the three on an elusive move to the outside. The play was nullified when the Tigers were charged with being offside.

On a first and 15 play from the 16, Whavers carried to the six and then to the three on consecutive downs. Quarterback Sam Shepard called his own number, keeping the ball and diving over for the TD. The PAT was no good and the Tigers maintained a 12-0 advantage.

Vancleave made a game of it with a touchdown and two-point conversion in the fourth quarter. The score was set up when the Tigers turned the ball over on a fumble at their 27.

With the score uncomfortably close at 12-8, the Tigers unleashed a 73-yard, 13-play drive that consumed six minutes and 27 seconds from the clock.

Perhaps the biggest play of the game occurred on that drive, when Shepard picked up a first down on a fourth and one keeper at the Vancleave 20. The Tigers scored four plays later when Whavers collected the points on a three-yard run.

Even though the PAT was blocked for the third time, the Tigers had built an 18-8 advantage with only 4:26 left in the game.

Bay High stopped the Bulldogs on their next series and then ran out the clock to claim the win.

"This is the best game we have played," jubilant coach Rocky Gaudin stated. "Our backs ran well and blocked for each other. The line came off the ball quickly, the defense played super."

"We've come a long way. We worked real hard to get where we are. We're proud of our record. Three and three may not sound like much, but we have come a long way and we're proud of it," Gaudin added.

"We have a tough game next week, but right now we are going to enjoy this win. We are 3-1 in district and have a real shot at the playoffs," Gaudin said.

Bay High is 3-3 overall and 3-1 in District 8 Class 3-A. Next week the Tigers travel to Hancock to face the 3-3 Hawks who lost to Pearl River Central 42-18 in their last contest.

Blue Devils pluck Hawks

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock Hawks were defeated 42-18 Friday night as they attempted to hold back the unbeaten Pearl River Central Blue Devils.

Pearl River Central High School moved to 3-0 in District 8 Class 4-A, while Hancock absorbed its first district loss, making them 2-1.

The Hawks kicked off to the Blue Devils. Eight minutes into the first quarter, Pearl River Central scored the first touchdown of the night after completing a pass that stopped short of the goal line.

Hancock held the line for two attempts to rush, and on the Blue Devils' third try, they crossed the line.

The extra point was good, and Pearl River Central took the lead at 7-0.

After the Blue Devils' kick off, Hawk running back Bobby Doyle ran the ball to Pearl River Central's 49-yard line.

The Hawks were unable to move the ball for three plays, and were forced to punt with 4:03 left in the first quarter.

Hancock kicked the ball, which rolled out-of-bounds, leaving Pearl River Central on their own 16-yard line.

After two failed passes, the Hawks forced PRC to punt with 3:22 left.

The Hawks received on the Blue Devil 46. One sack and two plays later, the Hawks were forced to return the ball with a punt which the Blue Devils received at their own 35.

Hawk defensive back Radley Lader physically lifted a Blue Devil receiver off the ground to stop him near the line of scrimmage on the next play.

The first quarter ended with Pearl River Central leading 7-0.

PRC pushed through for two plays and reached the Hawks 30 for a first down. Running the ball again, Hawk defensive end Joe Green stopped the PRC ball carrier on the 18-yard line.

Two rushes later, the Blue Devils crossed the goal and brought the score to 14-0 with 9:59 left in the second quarter, as the extra point was good.

This time the ball was received by the Hawks on their own 40-yard line. Quarterback Jeff Favre replaced Doug Authement for the Hawks.

In the first play, the ball was fumbled behind the line of scrimmage and Pearl River Central recovered.

The Blue Devils kept pounding away for yardage, and crossed the goal line with 7:02 left in the second quarter. The extra point extended PRC's lead to 21-0.

PRC kicked off to the Hawks with Favre remaining as quarterback. Two penalties and four attempts later, the Blue Devils took the ball at their own 49.

Two pushes brought the Blue Devils to their 30-yard line. A completed pass found Pearl River Central on the Hawks 15, until a holding penalty pushed them back to the 30.

The Blue Devils passed and in they went for the TD with 2:35 remaining.

Again the extra point was good making the score 28-0.

Pearl River Central kicked off to Hancock and the ball was received by Hawk center Eric Necaize, who ran it to the Hawk 45.

Favre connected with Goff for a 15-yard gain and a first down. With 23 seconds remaining on the clock before half-time, the Hawks moved the ball to the Blue Devil 10-yard line.

Favre passed to Doyle for a touchdown, placing the Hawks on the score board for the first time. Hancock tried for a two-point conversion and failed.

The half ended with Pearl River Central leading 28-6.

The Blue Devils kicked off to the Hawks and the ball was received on their 30-yard line.

Two attempts by the Hawks brought the ball to their 45.

Three plays later the Hawks were perched on the Blue Devil 15 with two yards to go for a first down.

A hand off to Goff brought the Hawks to the Blue Devil 10 and gave Hancock a first down.

Four yards were picked up by Hancock by a rush to Pearl River Central's six-yard line.

Another pass to Goff brought the Hawks two-yard closer.

A fourth attempt for a score was made from the Blue Devil four-yard line when the Hawk pass was picked off and taken 96-yards down field for a Blue Devil TD.

SECTION B

After school interests

Waveland teacher becomes horse showman

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

When the school bell marks the end of another day at Waveland Elementary School, third-grade teacher Ray Glenn heads to Saucier where three of his four-legged students patiently wait.

Ray Glenn

There is Streak, Go-Go and Katrina. They are Palomino quarter horses.

Streak (Win Bars Gold Streak) is a four-year old filly. Glenn purchased Streak in late 1990 and personally trained her for pole bending and barrel racing.

He began showing Streak in February 1991 and since that time the horse has earned her R.O.M. in poles, barrels and amateur poles.

Streak is currently rated number one in the nation after winning the Mississippi Palomino Association State Championship this year in junior pole bending (58 points), junior barrel racing (30 points) and in amateur pole bending (38 points).

Go-Go (Poco Golden Remedy) is a five-year old mare purchased by Glenn within the last eight months.

Glenn said Go-Go has been quite a bargain since she has past training along with a good athletic ability and common sense.

"She's given me absolutely no trouble in the arena and has been a pleasure to teach because she learns quickly."

"Go-Go had no prior experience with pole bending but she had been worked in barrels."

"She took to the pole bending pattern quite well and in three months had started winning classes."

Go-Go currently is currently leading the nation in senior pole bending (46 points); has her R.O.M. in amateur and open poles, and barrels for a total of four events; placed fifth in the amateur pole bending at the World Show Competition in Tulsa, Okla. this year; and just won the senior pole bending state championship in the Mississippi Palomino Association show.

"I am very pleased with her record because I knew I was rushing her a bit into her show career."

Katrina (Sure Cash's Miss) is a 19-year-old mare that Glenn retired this year.

Glenn has shown Katrina for 12 years and she has accumulated 700 national points in Palomino competition.

She has won four register of merit awards and three superior register of merit awards in speed-event classes.

Seventeen times Katrina has been ranked in the national top ten horses of her class.

She won the Dixie National Palomino Horse Show Pole Bending class from 1983 to 1990 and in 1987 won national championships in pole bending, amateur pole bending and amateur barrel racing.

"She has earned her retirement," Glenn commented.

Glenn, a native of Greenville, explained, "I was asthmatic and sickly as a child, having to rest and stay indoors all the time."

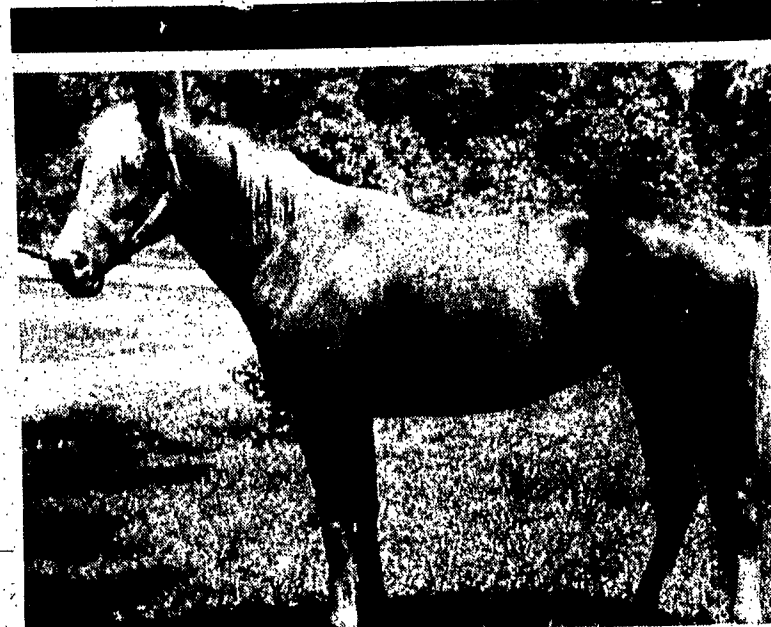

"Both of my parents had grown up around horses, so after begging them for a horse of my own, they finally gave in and purchased an old sway-backed plow horse for me.

"In my eyes, it was the most beautiful horse in the whole world."

"Amazingly, my health began to improve, which I believe was a direct result of the exercise and fresh air I experienced when riding."

"My family moved from Greenville to Jackson and our new house was located behind a fairgrounds where there were weekly horse shows."

Go-Go (Poco Golden Remedy)

"Gradually my entire family became involved in horse showing."

"My parents were a little surprised to see how their son's early infatuation with horses never dimmed."

Glenn said he began showing in the 1960's and since that time has seen a lot of changes in the horse show world. "In the 60's it was just good family fun. There were a few serious competitors, but there was more of an attitude towards friendly rivalry and good sportsmanship."

"In the 1970's the quality of the horses competing drastically changed. The shorter, stockier 'bull-dog' type of quarter-horses disappeared, and the taller, lankier thoroughbreds became the horses of preference. Horse prices shot up."

"In the 1980's many competitors dropped out of competition because of the increase in costs for a 'good' horse. Shows began to dwindle in size as did the types of horses being shown. "Today you still see a lot of the big horses, but the average-sized horse is regaining popularity."

"In the 80's and 90's the attitude of competition also changed. It became more business like and even cut-throat. The fun which existed in the past was replaced by title pressure."

"I certainly don't knock titles, but there are a lot of parents living vicariously through their children."

Glenn has been teaching for three years now at Waveland Elementary School. He is a third grade teacher.

"I believe children need to develop an interest in something healthy."

"Kids get into trouble because they are bored."

"It may just be that my love for horses has helped to make me the man I am today, when things could have been otherwise."

Why I say 'No' to drugs

St. Clare

Doing drugs is about the same as putting a gun in your mouth and pulling. Drugs will kill you slower. It could hurt you, your family and friends. So don't do drugs. Be happy. Just say no and be drug free.

J. R. Farrell

Why say yes? Please know that it can harm you physically, and mentally, but people do it anyway. Stay away from drugs like me, because I'm drug free.

Casey Piazza

When you do drugs you hurt yourself financially and socially. Your life gets confusing because of drugs. The people who sold you drugs want their money on the spot. It is very dangerous when you do not have the money. It hurts you socially with friends, family and other people you know. That is why you should not do drugs.

Georgmarie Moore

You should be drug free because you would probably kill yourself and that would waste your life.

Jeff Shiyou

I think you should say no to drugs because it ruins your personal life with your family and friends. Once you are hooked on drugs, it is not easy to quit, and you won't get a job. It also encourages your siblings to do drugs. So be smart, don't let drugs enter your life.

Jenny Oliver

We shouldn't use drugs because we are good without them. God created us and we can't ourselves better than God made us. Drugs can hurt you and the people you love. Drugs are probably the worst thing you can do to yourself. Using drugs can make you sick and make you do things you really don't want to do.

Melissa McPhail

Don't be foolish, stay smart, don't do drugs. They will make you fly high in the sky, jump off buildings to try to fly. So keep your life straight. Don't do drugs.

LeeAnn Marcum

Why should you be drug free? Because you will not be losing your life. You will have a future. Your family and friends will not turn against you. You will be cool if you don't do drugs. If you do do drugs it's only hurting yourself, so get help!

Nicole Mauffray

I think drugs are horrible because drugs can and will damage your brain and kill you. If you take drugs now you will regret it for the rest of your life, that is if you are lucky enough to live the rest of your life normally. Drugs can also make you lose all your friends. No one will like you. So remember - Just say NO!

Christopher Estrade

You should not do drugs because it could easily influence your younger brothers and/or sisters to do drugs. If you do drugs, then your younger brothers and/or sisters will think it's okay. Then your whole family will soon be on drugs. Drugs will also kill you. Each time you take drugs, it kills many brain cells. When all your brain cells are gone you die.

Rebecca Landry

I think you should not take drugs because you could die. There are people out there who are fighting for a life. Don't you think you should be drug-free and live a little longer? Just say

NO!

Melinda Yarborough

I think you should say no to drugs because it affects not only you but friends and family. It will cut your life short. It can change your life for the worse. It will affect you physically, financially, emotionally and socially. Put it this way, it will ruin your life.

Meredith Quinlan

I want to be drug free because I enjoy all life. I want to be someone special when I grow up. I don't want to be a junkie on the street begging for money, for food, and drugs. I have a great life. I do well in school and have good friends. I don't want to blow it all on a pill that makes me feel good for maybe a minute, then destroys the rest of my life because I am hooked on drugs.

Christian Marrione

I think you should not use drugs because it hurts you in many ways, such as physically, mentally and socially. It can hurt you physically by affecting parts of your body, mentally by hurting your mind, and socially by not having any friends or a job. So these are the reasons you should not use drugs. Know it's your choice!

Tabitha Wilkinson

I think the world should be drug free because drugs kill people. Financially they destroy you! Mentally, they separate your brain! Physically, they destroy organs. Quit drugs. They're not worth it.

Beau Develle

You shouldn't take drugs because they can kill you. Drugs mess up your brain and your body. It's very good to be drug free because you can live your life while you're young and get the pleasure of life.

Jerry Felder

If you do drugs it will kill you. It is not cool to do drugs. Drugs are the worst thing you can do to your life. You won't make many friends by doing drugs. If you do make friends, they are not good ones. If you do drugs, you will not get a good job and if you are on drugs, get off them. It's the best thing you can do.

Scott Courrage

The reason you shouldn't take drugs is you have a whole life ahead of you. Why throw it all away?

Leslie Ladner

Drugs kill precious brain cells that we all need to help us to grow up mature and learn our lessons in school. Anyone can see what harm they do to your body and mind. Never took any kind of drugs and never will. I'm too smart for that. So please, do yourself a favor - don't start! Thank you.

Joy Bordages

You shouldn't do drugs because it will only mess up your life. You'll find yourself in and out of jail. You won't be able to get a job because no one will hire a drug addict. Everyone already knows that drugs will kill you, so take it from me. DON'T DO DRUGS!

U'nita Twiggs

Be drug free. Don't be fool. Be cool. Don't do drugs. It drains your brain. It will make you die fast, and you won't last. So don't drain your brain, be drug free.

Dawn Conravey

You should say no to drugs because drugs can kill you. When you take drugs you will feel good for a little while, then you feel depressed again. You take more drugs. After one or two times you will become addicted. You'll have to keep taking drugs. Eventually you will die from it.

Jason Worrel

Bay Middle

You should say no to drugs because you can die young because of drugs and I don't think you want to die young because you wouldn't be able to live out your whole life, and that would not be fun at all. That's why you don't want to do drugs.

John Anthony

You shouldn't do drugs because if you use drugs you could get very sick. I think you should only use drugs if you have a prescription from your doctor. Some movies like Robocop 2 describe how this drug, Nuke, must be stopped. Thousands of drugs like nuke will cause disease or maybe kill people who use it.

Aaron Bennett

I will say no to drugs because they could do harmful things to you. Drugs can make you go crazy. People who take drugs are even more crazy than the drug itself. We all know what drugs can do to us. So instead of saying yes, everyone should say no. Just say no.

Michael Smith

Say no to drugs because drugs can kill! Say no to drugs so that you will not die. Drugs get you into trouble. When you do drugs it is NOT COOL, it is UNCOOL. Please beware that drugs can hurt you really bad, or kill.

GiGi Elmer

The reason why you should say no to drugs is because once you try it you're hooked on it. Every time you smoke crack or dope, you kill brain cells. If you lose too many brain cells you will probably die. When you say no to drugs you are setting examples for younger people.

Alicia Gavagnie

You should say no to drugs because you could die because of them. You could get set up by another person and go to jail because of drugs. Some people say that if you do drugs you would be cool and fit in with the crowd, but, I don't think that is true. Don't do drugs!!!

Desaree Acker

They kill, they stink, they smell, they're stupid, they're dumb, they're a waste of money.

Why I say 'No' to drugs

Bay Middle

Drugs are bad, they hurt people. It's really bad when a pregnant woman does cocaine or any other drug. It makes the baby slow or retarded. It can be two minutes and the baby will be addicted. And another thing, drugs are a waste of time and money. "Drugs are just plain stupid." If you take drugs you will not see or have a future. Sometimes you will break down and lose control. Get it through your head, Drugs Kill.

Tyree Haynes

Drugs kill people every day. Drugs take control over your body. You don't know what you're doing. Cocaine is white powder. It looks like sugar almost. Grass has all kinds of different names, grass, weed, etc. It looks like a thin grass with seeds. If you have a drug addiction call 1-800-662-HELP. Samantha Fish

I say no to drugs because they are very harmful to you and me. I do not want to be sick. It could even kill you and I don't want to die. So I am not going to take drugs!

Here are two more reasons to not take drugs—you could get in big trouble and won't be smart if you take them.

Jolinda Geoffrey

Saying yes to drugs is stupid. But saying no to drugs is being smart. Drugs can get you killed. A whole lot of people die from drunk driving. Friends and family die from lung disease from cigarettes. Some college students die from drugs. They're a lot of kinds of drugs that people never heard of.

Justine Willey

Why say no to drugs? Because when people say yes they find out they are going to get put in jail for it, and when they are in jail they wish they didn't take drugs. And the people that do say no, they don't get put in jail, and if they do they are put in for something else. And they are smart.

Magan

It's not safe to use drugs, because if you use it you will want it forever.

Some people use it because they have cancer. The doctors prescribe it to cure the cancer. When I grow up I don't want to use it because it can make you die or it will make you sick. It's a bad thing to use. I don't understand why people use it. Well, this is a story about saying no to drugs, also this boy asked me if I wanted some. I said no you shouldn't be even using it, it's real bad. Well this is my story about drugs.

Jennifer Lynn Loper

Say no to drugs because they can harm you and people around you and you might not even realize it. It isn't all right to use drugs, because drugs not only harm your body and people around you, but they also kill. People who use drugs usually go back to them no matter what. It causes a lot of disruption in a family or with your friends, so take some good advice, "Say no to Drugs" and don't use them, they kill!

Shannon Beall

I think we should say no to drugs because they mess up our system and drugs are very bad for us. The only time you should take drugs, is when your doctor says to, or when he gives you a prescription.

And when you take a prescription, take it as you're told, don't play around with it, or take more than you're supposed to. You can get really sick taking an overdose on drugs.

Mandie French

You should never take drugs, because they are bad for you. If you take them for a long time you'll die. Inside your body all of those drugs like marijuana, cocaine and crack will mess up your respiratory system. If you share needles with someone they will catch AIDS, too.

Gabrielle Lewis

You should say no to drugs because they are bad for your health and every part of your body. I will not take drugs because I do not want to die soon. I want to live a good life and be happy without drugs, and I also want to get a good job, but in order to do that I can't take drugs. That's why you should say no to drugs.

Curt Picou

I should say no to drugs because it can, and will kill you. If you do cocaine it could tear and rip your nose to pieces. You could get sent to jail also. Drugs that aren't prescribed to you by a doctor, besides something for a headache or something, are something you don't need.

If you do drugs you will regret it for the rest of your life. It also effects your brain. It will fry your brain like an egg.

Rebecca Smith

The reason you should say no is because you could die or become sick. Some people try it but sometimes they can get hooked on it. Only sick people need drugs. So if you think about doing drugs, think again. Drugs can kill or get you very sick.

Justin Boudouin

The reason you should say no to drugs is because drugs kill, and you should not get hooked on drugs because they are bad for you.

And drugs don't only kill, they can mess up your mind very badly and you would not know anything, or anyone, or yourself.

Donald

The reason I say no to drugs is because drugs can kill you or damage your brain. They can hurt your lungs or damage your intestines. Drugs are like a disease. That is one reason you should say no to drugs.

People who start on drugs get hooked forever. They do stupid things and get put in jail.

When you buy drugs and you want to quit buying them, the people try to get you to keep buying.

Derick Sellier

If your friends ever try to give you drugs, just tell them no. After you finish telling your so-called friends no, tell a teacher, parents, your next door neighbor, or a school friend that you trust for HELP! It is very important that you say no to drugs!

Kimberly M.

Why you should say no to drugs, because drugs can hurt your body. If you do drugs it will hurt you and your family and friends. Drugs are dangerous to our bodies. Once you take drugs you will get addicted, and after you are addicted that is all you want to do is take drugs.

If you took drugs you could get up in the morning, get the drug and then after that all you want to do is sleep. You might not eat. You can get arrested for having drugs in the United States, or you will maybe go into prison for many years for having drugs.

ing drugs. George Piazza

You should say no to drugs because they are bad for you and you could die from them. Drugs are only good for you when you're sick or when the doctor prescribes it for you.

Drugs can be dangerous in some ways, like you can do drugs then do crazy stuff like drive a car. You could get in a wreck or run off a cliff. So, try to stay off drugs.

April Marsh

Saying yes to drugs is like the stupidest thing to do. But saying no to drugs is right. Because it's okay to say no to drugs.

There are so many drugs like crack, marijuana, speed, etc. So you have to watch out for them and people who use them. So say NO!

Robert Russell

You should never take a chance. Don't be stupid because you might never wake up from the hospital bed. I would hope this essay would change your mind about doing drugs. If you are using, stop, because it is not helping your problems. You are just hurting your own self, so stop if you are and don't be a fool.

Jonah Lowry

I say no to drugs because you can get very sick, plus you can die from that stuff. You may even get addicted to drugs. You can even get in big trouble with the law.

If someone came up to me and asked me do I want to try it, I will say no and then run. But first I will try to talk them out of it. I will tell them that it is bad for you and your environment.

Felicia Vance

You can get addicted or other diseases. If you get addicted your brain cells will fall apart. If you do not get help fast you could die.

When you get addicted you kill people without knowing. That is why you should not use drugs.

Spring Burgess

Because drugs are bad for your brain, every time you smoke crack you lose brain cells and you have less and less brain cells to help you function right.

People smoke crack because they say it makes you feel good, but it doesn't, it just makes you feel and act like a total idiot. So if someone asks you to do drugs, tell them straight out NO and walk away.

Mindy Saucier

Taking drugs is not the right thing to do. It will make me very dumb. I wouldn't look so good. My parents wouldn't respect me at all. I wouldn't make very good grades. If I do I could get very sick or I could die because of drugs. My parents might kick me out of the house. Racquel

The only reason we say no to drugs is because drugs kill you and your friends die because of drugs. About 5,000,000 people die because of drugs a year. You know it is a shame to think that the drug takers have went to school and they learned about drugs and they know that drugs kill, and then they go out and do drugs.

Jason Fellows

I would always say no to drugs. Because I'm not that kind of person.

Drugs can kill, and I don't want to be dead, because I think I have a good opportunity in life.

If I ever took drugs, I would never be loyal to my parents. They would never trust me again. If that ever happened I'd wish I were dead.

Kelly Brown

You should say no to drugs because drugs can kill you. You might get shot. It is very dangerous. Somebody might try to kill you.

Drugs are very, very dangerous. They might drive you out of your mind. You might go to jail.

Chris Coffelt

I think we should say no to drugs. Drugs are very bad for you and will kill you. Drugs are like poison, you get hooked and that's it. Drugs kill you because it messes up your brain. It kills the cells in your brain and they cannot be reproduced.

Grant Hughes

Bay Catholic

The reason you should say no to drugs is because if you do drugs you are just ruining your life.

Drugs have chemicals that eat your cells away, that means your life. Drugs such as marijuana, cocaine, acid, weed, pills, pot, p.c.p., angel-dust, dope and whatever else you are tempted to do kills you. If you want to live to see tomorrow, I advise: Don't Do Drugs!

Why I say 'No' to drugs

Bay Catholic

Do not do drugs. People who do drugs end up junkies. And if you don't want to become a junkie then stay away from drugs. "Drugs Kill" and when you do drugs you might end up in a hospital or in jail or just a junkie on the street. So if you have a good brain, stay away from the killer and that name really fits drugs because "Drugs Kill!"

Every day when you wake up someone has died from drugs. If you are tempted by drugs, just say no. But if you are already on drugs, get help!

Josh Hill

Some people think it's cool to do drugs or it's the only way to fit in, but that's not true. All drugs do is mess up your life. I know it's hard to say no, especially when you're younger and so many people are telling you it's cool. So if you're ever faced with a problem like this, just remember what drugs can do!

Ashley Artigues

You should say No to drugs, because you want to live a long life, don't you?

So don't do drugs because you have people and things to see.

Don't do drugs because if you do, you will hurt a lot of other people. For instance, if you get hurt you would hurt your family and friends as much as you would hurt yourself.

Just listen to me. Don't Do Drugs! For your sake and your family's sake.

Andie Fillingame

I think that you should say no to drugs because drugs are deadly. Drugs kill. People who like life should stay clear of drugs.

Alcohol could get you drunk and you might try to drive and you could get hurt or even killed. You could kill or injure others.

Crack is addictive. One hit and you have to have more. Two hits and you have to have more. Three hits, you're out.

Cigarettes can cause lung cancer. They are also very addictive. Three or four cartons and you have to have more. Twenty or thirty cartons and you have to have more. Up to two million cartons and you have to have an iron lung.

There is no "This is drugs. This is your brain on drugs." It's more like "This is drugs. This is goodbye." Don't you see? Drugs aren't toys. Drugs KILL.

Page Harder

You should always say no to drugs because drugs kill. Even if you say you're just going to try it one time, once might just be all you have. Drugs aren't cool. Even when people you think are cool use it, because those people aren't thinking about what they are doing. Drugs don't make you feel good. They just slowly kill you every single time you abuse drugs. Just say no to drugs.

Beverly Sy

I think that the reason we say no to drugs is that we are trying to warn everybody that drugs can ruin your life.

You might end up with lung cancer, or even being killed. Some people don't know that drugs are bad, or they might know they're bad, but still do them to be cool. I know a few people who do smoke at the ages of fourteen and fifteen. I surely hope that they know it can stunt their growth.

So this is why I think we should say no to drugs.

Jimmy Saucier

Drugs are the worst thing that can happen to the human body. Some people think of drugs as toys, and turn to drugs when they are depressed. They think only once or twice what harm can that do.

If you are using drugs, don't be afraid to get help. If you're on drugs, remember you don't know what you're playing with. Just say no.

Melissa Matherene

I think you should not use drugs because the way my parents and teachers explained drugs, drugs can't get you anywhere. Once you take drugs, you can't stop without help.

If you have any particular job you'd like to work at, and if you take drugs, you can forget about it. Where would you get the money? You'd end up stealing.

People say drugs can't hurt you. Drugs will lead you to stealing, cheating, if you're still in school by then, and even may cause you to hurt a loved one. There isn't much more to say, just Don't Take DRUGS.

Jamie Robertson

You should say no to drugs because drugs make you do things you wouldn't do if you weren't on drugs. After you take them once, they make you feel good. So you take them over and over and after awhile you will do something stupid and kill yourself.

If people ask you to take drugs, just say no and run away. Taking drugs isn't cool, but being yourself is.

Mark Gagnon

Why say no to drugs? Because they are bad. They kill and they make you sick. You do bad things when you are not aware of it.

They make you do bad things to people you love and trust. You might get put in jail.

Derek Bradley

Say no to drugs because they kill. People do them because they think it helps them get rid of their problems. They aren't getting rid of anything. They are only giving themselves more problems.

If you do drugs you are stupid. When you do drugs at the same time you are losing all your friends.

So when you are really heavy into drugs you have no money and no friends. Then where will you be?

Tara Carrige

Why say no to drugs is simple. If you take pot, p.c.p.-angel dust, marijuana, acid, cocaine, weed, or pills and other drug, they will eat your insides out and kill you. If you're lucky the hospital will help you, or you just might get counseled for it before it gets bad. So if you see some kind of drug around, don't take it.

Just remember, it will kill you! You little kids, when you see medication around the house, you aren't supposed to take it, don't even think of it. Don't take drugs, it will ruin your reputation plus your life!

Keyes Stahl

If you say yes, then you would have a better chance living if you drove a Porsche through a ten-foot wall. It is cheaper to buy a Porsche than drugs. A Porsche might cost a lot of money, but the payment for drugs is your life. You say you're just going to try them, but then you get hooked.

You'll do anything for another dose. You might even kill someone. So if you take drugs they will take something else from you, your life.

Jeffrey Eicerchi

The reason you should say no to drugs is they will hurt your body. You shouldn't even try drugs because the first time they make you feel different.

Why I say 'No' to drugs

Bay Catholic

Don't take drugs. You can get sick or even die. Most people that take drugs are addicted and can't get off them. Don't let anybody tell you that it is good because you know what it can do to you. Don't take it. Don't be dumb. Don't take drugs. Don't be a crackhead.

Honore Hazeur

Why we say no to drugs is because drugs are bad and can kill you. But some people say yes to drugs and saying yes to drugs is very stupid and could kill you if you don't stop.

People who do drugs think they can do weird things like flying and jumping out of airplanes without parachutes and without dying. And that is my essay on drugs.

"Just Say No"

Luke J.

I think that doing drugs is harmful to the person doing them and the people around that person. If I were you, I would not want to get into the habit of doing horrible things like that.

If you recently took drugs and you wanted to go to the store when going there you could get in a wreck, kill yourself and the people in the other car. You do not only hurt people in that way only, you can hurt them in a lot more ways.

If you take drugs you are at the risk of going to jail and getting killed.

If I were you, this is what I would do if somebody said, "Do you want something that will make you fly high?" I'd say if it is a helicopter, yes, if it's drugs, no.

Don't worry, you can make the decision for yourself.

Thomas Genin

You should not take drugs because you'll always feel bad and you'll feel like you always need drugs when you really don't. Lots of people say they will take it once, but they end up taking it until they die. If you are a straight student you could become an F student. So don't take drugs, even if your friends are. It could even make you hurt loved ones, and remember, don't let drugs get in the way of your life.

Ben Guy

You know you always hear about drug prevention on T.V. and on the radio. But you wonder what can possibly happen to you and you might say, "I'll try it just to see what they're like and I won't have them again." But you never stop to realize that maybe just maybe, you won't survive after the first time!

Drugs are like a roller-coaster ride. Once you get on, you think this is neat! But you can't get off. Once you try them, they make you feel "high" or better than you did before. So please remember, next time you're pressured into doing drugs, think twice. It's not worth it! Just say no!

Brant Ryan

We say no to drugs because most people know they're bad for you. They're not good for your body for you. They can make you sick and you'll probably die.

If you want to live, don't take drugs. You could get AIDS from drugs, and AIDS make you die. So don't take drugs if you know what's right for you.

Emily Alford

You should say no to drugs because they can affect you in a big way. Drugs make you die a lot faster than if you are sick or have a disease.

If you have been doing drugs for quite awhile your body needs more and more of that drug. The more drugs you're doing the more you're taking lives away from yourself. Whenever I see a show on television, I see people that have been doing drugs for 12, 13, 14, 15 years and they are dying in the inside and the outside too.

Joseph Munson

Why do you have to say no to drugs? You say no to drugs because they will kill you. It really could damage your body.

If someone asks you, "Here try some," then what do you say? "No, thank you." Good going, you did the right thing. Always say no to drugs.

Michele C.

People should not take drugs because they could end up dead or having a fatal disease. But most people take drugs for granted and they end up dying and their children die and soon they have one big funeral for the whole world.

Everyone's going to die from drugs some day. Everyone in the world is going to have one family member that died from drugs even if that person is the quiet type. It could be me—you—anyone. So don't take drugs.

Brandy Hill

Bay Middle

You should say no to drugs because drugs are very bad for you. Drugs can affect your body in many negative ways. Drugs can cause diseases and break up a family. Drugs are a waste of time, money, and energy. Drugs affect your work and jobs. Why would you want to break the law? Please don't do drugs, they are bad for you.

Dee Bourgeois

People should not use drugs because they could kill you and other people. If you are pregnant and you use drugs, when the baby is born it could be disabled or retarded. When you are drinking and you go on the streets, you can kill other people. Doing drugs can cause family problems and a divorce in your family. Say No to drugs.

Kelly Green

Using drugs is not smart. Drugs cause diseases, divorces, break-up of families, damages to the body, and kills brain cells. There are many more reasons why you shouldn't use drugs. But that's enough reasons for me. So just say no to drugs, or you will be sorry!

Jeremy Skinner

I say no to drugs because they kill brain cells. They cause birth defects. They kill innocent people, like babies. Drugs kill and break up families. Drugs cause people to break the law, which results in violence. Drugs cause people to lose control and hurt or kill someone or something. Please say no to drugs!

Your friend,
Becky Verdin

Drugs are very bad for your health. When you use drugs you might become addicted, and won't be able to stop. Drugs can affect your body in many ways. They can cause you to do crazy things, and cause lots of accidents that lead to death. If you're pregnant and on drugs, the baby can have birth defects. Drugs causes families to break up. Drugs are deadly objects. So just say No!

Nadine Lewis

Why say no to drugs? Because they can kill you. What are drugs? Drugs are chemicals that affect your body and your mind. Only sick people need drugs. When people use drugs when they are not supposed to, they lose their self-respect.

Pregnant women can have children with birth defects. Drugs are a waste of time, money and life.

I'm an American. I want to say something, and I want you to think about it. We need to stop drug abuse. The users and the sellers should be put away behind bars.

Thank you,
Nicki Hunnicutt

Five reasons to say no to drugs:

- Reason 1. To stay alive.
- Reason 2. To save your money and mind.
- Reason 3. To keep your brain working.
- Reason 4. To have better friends.
- Reason 5. To have a good education.

Just Say No.
Thai V. Hughnh

You should say no to drugs because it kills people. Drugs can make your lungs go black. And if you were driving a car and you were smoking dope and drinking beer, you could have a bad car wreck and you can kill other people and kill yourself. Waste of money.

Jeanne Trosclair

Why say no to drugs? You should say no to drugs because drugs are not good for you and kill many people.

Drugs make you do strange things, and you don't know you are doing them. You may kill someone else, too. Plus you waste your money on drugs, too.

Ben Ladner

Why say no to drugs?—well that is your question. Now here is your answer. You should say no to drugs because you can get killed over drugs. You wouldn't have a long life if you use drugs. If you were smart you wouldn't use drugs. So don't use drugs!!

"Just say no!"

Cynthia Harrington

Drugs are very harmful. They will damage your body, a brain and will even kill you. Do you want to die young? I don't. Once you start you can't stop. If you drink and drive you can get into a serious car wreck. Don't be dumb! Just say no.

Cheryl Burger

Drugs can kill you. They can harm your body. They can cause your brain not to think right. While drinking and driving, drugs can cause you to get in a bad wreck. Drugs can cause you to get in a lot of trouble. Drugs such as smoking can cause your lungs to turn black. Just Say No To Drugs!

Alisha Travis

When you take pride in keeping a clear head on your shoulders, keeping fit and staying motivated, you're going to go places. When you say "NO" to drugs and say "yes" to staying in school, nothing can stand in your way.

The only thing that can stand in your way is "You." When you see kids smoking dope or doing pot, walk away fast. Don't even look at them. If they come toward you and they offer you some, just say "no" and walk away. Most kids smoking dope or any other dangerous drugs, end up on the streets and dying. So if you think you have to be cool by doing drugs, all you're doing is taking your life in your hands!

Emmy Jackson

You should say no to anyone who tries to sell or give you some kinds of drugs. Some people are spacey enough without it. Drugs can also get you in a lot of trouble. It can make you go to jail or even kill you. So just say no!

Shawn Peebles

You should care enough about your body to say no to drugs. If you take drugs, you are changing everything, your family, friends, and a good education. You are even changing your life! If you take drugs you are on a runaway to kill. So, think about it again and say "NO."

Rachel Spear

You shouldn't do drugs because they can kill. Some people get put in prison for life. You can also hurt your family and friends.

If you do drugs you will steal, cheat, and even kill. If you do drugs you are a fool. So just say no.

Clevan (Tank) Williams

Drugs mix you up. You run around the world like a choo-choo train, whistling out of every crack. So why are you smoking pot and crack? You look like a prune, shriveled up in dunes, walking around like the month of June.

Angela Baldree

Drugs are bad. Don't use drugs. They can kill. You can mess up your life and your family. Your parents should teach you not to use drugs. They will mess up your whole life. You shouldn't do drugs, they can mess you up.

Michael Baughman

You should say no to drugs because if you take drugs then you may become stupid or not be able to think straight. Drugs are bad for your health. Also if someone asks you to take drugs you should say no! If you see someone taking drugs you should tell someone who can help. There are hundreds of deaths caused by drugs.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

200-year-old Bill of Rights comes to Coliseum

A 200-year-old original, scribed copy of the Bill of Rights will arrive in Biloxi Oct. 12, transported in a 20th century, high-tech caravan, as part of a 50-state tour of the priceless document presented by Philip Morris Companies Inc.

Virginia's original copy of the Bill of Rights is the centerpiece of a 15,000-square-foot multimedia exhibit which will be on display free of charge at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum from Oct. 12-15. Hours are Oct. 12-14, 10 a.m.-8 p.m. and Oct. 15, 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Steeped in history but interspersed with contemporary issues, the sights and sounds of the exhibit surround visitors with a sense of the document's past and an appreciation of its ever-changing nature in modern-day society.

The space-age pavilion, designed by the award-winning producers of special effects and display technologies, Associates & Ferren, presents a dramatic montage of graphic displays, contemporary video segments and film clips from movie classics such as Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, Twelve Angry Men and The Grapes of Wrath. The pavilion juxtaposes a sense of space with an intimacy which allows visitors to be within two feet of the capsule protecting the document.

The recently restored Virginia copy of the Bill of Rights was selected for the 26,000-mile tour because of its historical significance. Virginia and its leaders, including James Madison and George Mason, played a significant role in the introduction and ratification of the first 10 amendments to the U.S. Constitution, known as the Bill of Rights.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

Tuesday, Sept. 24, VAVS chairman Shirley Clemons and Hazel Wohlchlegel hosted an ice cream and cake party under the sponsorship of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 139, for 72 veterans in the VA Hospital in Gulfport.

The auxiliary also sponsored the monthly birthday party Sept. 26 for the residents of the Hotel Reed Nursing Center, co-hosted by Roslyn Weathers and Oris Planchard.

Beth Gruzinskas, director of activities, had the dining room decorated with colorful balloons.

Lena Mae Oustalet played the piano, Roslyn Weathers led the singing, and Oris Planchard, Elaine Roberts and Pat Turnipseed went among the residents to visit and encourage them to join in the festivities.

While 'Happy Birthday' was sung, the celebrants received gifts. Many joined in the singing of the gospel, hymns and 'oldies but goodies'.

Oris Planchard, Elaine Robert and Pat Turnipseed served refreshments.

Kiln VFW Post 6285 and Auxiliary

Commander Paul Moody introduced State Quartermaster Dick Easterling of Starkville who delivered the principal address. The Pledge of Allegiance was recited by all, followed by the playing of Taps.

Auxiliary president, Estelle Depreo, and members Susie Harmon, Vera Ramsey, Jackie Moody, Mabel Moran, Luvie Ladner, Anna M. Cuevas, Teresa Dunhurst, Lilly Kendricks, Bessie Necaise and Toni Dunhurst had the honor of unveiling the monument.

BU3 James L. Cole, BU2 Bruce E. Barker, CMCN William B. Long and CECN Ricardo S. Rocha of the color guard unit from the Navy C.B. Base, Gulfport, presented the colors.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

"You say po-tay-toes, I say po-tah-toes" goes the old song; but, however you pronounce the word "potato," don't pass up the special bargains in potatoes at our area supermarkets these days, by the pound or by the bag in quantities to suit everyone's needs.

Potatoes have been maligned by dieters for years; but, in truth, the potato is fat free (and you know how aware we all are of food fats these days), and ounce for ounce, has no more calories than an apple (that is, of course, without its cloak of sour cream or butter!)

Of course, the apple can be eaten out of hand, with no further embellishment, whereas the potato is all too often loaded with all sorts of additional "goodies." But, have you ever tried a just-baked potato, dusted with freshly ground black pepper from your pepper mill, sprinkled liberally with herbs, and perhaps a splash or so of hot pepper sauce or chopped-green-onion-seasoned low-fat or no-fat yogurt?

Try chopped parsley as an added taste treat.

Crab-stuffed potatoes were good sellers at last weekend's Food Fest at Our Lady Academy in the Bay; I ate two at lunchtime, and brought a couple more home for the freezer. I didn't get the Food Fest recipe, but I've been making them for many years, this way:

CRAB STUFFED IRISH POTATOES

3 large Irish baking potatoes
1 lb. crabmeat
1 large onion, minced
1 medium bell (green) pepper, minced
2 ribs celery, minced
3 sprigs parsley, minced
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup milk
1 tsp. garlic salt
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Scrub potatoes, and puncture in several places with a fork. Bake in a 350 oven for an hour or until soft. While they are baking, mix the crab meat, onion, green pepper, celery, parsley, egg, milk, garlic salt and salt and pepper to taste, and set on a low flame to heat.

When potatoes are baked, cut them in half, scoop out the insides and combine with the crab mixture. Stuff the shells, and sprinkle cheese over. Bake for 20 minutes or until cheese browns slightly.

(I have also prepared these, omitting the egg, and reducing the amount of crabmeat.) Here are variations:

CHEESEBURGER STUFFED POTATOES

Saute 1/4 cup chopped onion in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until transparent. Add 1 lb. ground beef and 1 clove garlic, minced, stirring with a fork, until lightly browned. Add the chopped baked potato centers, and refill the shells. Top each with a square of Cheddar cheese and broil until the cheese is melted. (For these, instead of halving the potatoes, I slice off the tops and scoop out the insides.)

LEMONY CUCUMBER FILLED POTATOES

Chop the potato centers and combine with 1 cup cottage cheese, 1/2 cup lemon yogurt, 1/4 cup diced cucumbers, 1 tablespoon chopped fresh dill (or 1 tsp. freeze-dried dill) and 1/2 tsp. salt.

Mississippi's own sweet potatoes are in the markets, as are Louisiana yams. Fall and winter vegetables are in good supply as well. Florida oranges are down in price, as are grapefruit and limes, as well as apples. Cabbage is a good buy as well.

Let's not pass over the excellent buys in meats, such as the boneless beef chuck roasts and steaks (I cooked a tasty "mini" roast from a chuck steak the other day, potatoes and carrots and onions and all!)

Pork cuts are in the forefront of good buys, also, from fresh Boston Butt and pork steaks to Western style pork ribs and pork neck bones. Fryer breasts are a good buy, as are fryer leg quarters. Whole catfish and Alaskan king crab legs are offered, as well as shrimp and oysters.

bus halls in the state. All church organizations are encouraged to participate. It is a one-day affair always on the last Saturday of October. Items will be collected for pregnancy care centers, homes

Items needed for pregnancy care centers are diapers, maternity clothes, lingerie, baby clothes, baby furniture and monetary donations.

For other organizations, bring clothes; lingerie; towels; blankets; linens; personal care items; supplies for kitchen, bath; laundry; household equipment of appliances; Microwaves, utensils, washers, dryers, irons, sewing machines; office, building, yard supplies;

Computers; typewriters; paper, trash cans; yard supplies, children's toys; and monetary donations.

Once the items are delivered to the Knights of Columbus Hall on Oct. 26, they will be sorted and immediately delivered by volunteers to the needy organizations or taken by church groups to their respective missions.

There also is a need for medical and dental equipment and supplies at missions in America and foreign countries.

For further information call Joe Kersanac at 467-5136.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Lying enslaves us

"Fact of life: Lying is necessary to our survival." With that title line, Max Gates, a columnist, launched an article which opened with the observation that 91 percent of Americans say they lie regularly.

He noted: "Lying is a part of everyday life for most humans, as necessary for our survival as air, food and water, say those who have studied liars and lying."

To hear that 91 percent of Americans admit to lying regularly is, to put it mildly, an extremely upsetting bit of information. If this is so, how can we possibly believe that it is feasible and safe to trust most people?

If we cannot dare to trust most people, 91 percent to be exact, without the mortal fear of getting hurt, abused and otherwise hurt, what foundation can there ever be for any of our human relations, shaky as they already are at best?

What is a parent to do if a child can be trusted to lie regularly? Worse still, what is a child to do if a parent is among the 91 percent who make a habit of lying?

Pity the poor spouse who can only guess whether her/his spouse believes in adhering to the truth or follows the 91 percent of deceivers. Already very difficult, trusting the fidelity of a spouse can be agonizing with this speculation.

Apparently, the 91 percent count is a blanket total which in some way taints blood relationship, friendship, business relations, casual acquaintance and dealings with strangers.

In a worst case scenario, the victims of lies do not have the symptoms or clues to tip them off that the one addressing them may be lying. Since there is no cause for questioning truthfulness in such instances, the way is paved for a progressively more destructive habit of lying.

Telling lies is bad enough, but, if we make a habit of telling them, we will begin to live a lie.

To live a lie is arguably the worst thing which can happen to a human being, since living a lie is an ongoing attempt to escape from reality. Escaping from reality, of course, is the classic psychiatric description of moving toward insanity.

If that is so, one would think that all psychologists and psychiatrists would encourage people to adhere to the truth as much as possible. The lie, one would think, should be the rare exception, if told at all.

To the contrary, some psychologists are telling us that it is healthy to lie. They mean, of course, that it is unhealthy to tell the truth all the time.

What ever happened to the warning of Jesus that lies will enslave us, because the devil uses falsehood for his own ends?

"(The devil) was a murderer from the beginning and does not stand in truth; because there is no truth in him... he is a liar and the father of lies" (Jn. 8: 44).

All the psychologists and psychiatrists are bush league compared to the Great One from whom along they should accept advice. In affirming that lying is healthy, they are going up against the ultimate Authority from whom there is no appeal:

"If you remain in my word, you will truly be my disciples, and you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free" (Jn. 8: 31-32).

Must we discuss whether we want to be slave or free?

FAITH ENABLES US TO DISCOVER NEW LANDS AND NEW LIVES

Our world is one of constant change. Exciting to explore. With names of places new and strange. We hadn't known before. We visit many foreign lands. And sail upon the sea. But lessons that our faith commands. Compel us to agree. That God made every living thing. Including one called man. Whose great discoveries can bring. The proof of God's own plan. It's more than countries, we're aware. That we should keep in mind: The world of happiness out there. For us to seek and find.

On September 18, 1991, we went shopping at a local competitor and compared WINN-DIXIE prices on national brand items. What we found will astound you. Winn-Dixie was substantially lower on virtually every item. Some of our Competitors' prices may have changed since then. HOW CAN YOU AFFORD TO SHOP ANYWHERE ELSE?
